Tygers' Leading Scorer Out for

OHIO ELECTION RIVALS SLING VERBAL BLOWS

Candidates Fuss Over State Problems as Campaign Hits Last Lap.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — A barrage from political scatterguns today opened the last two weeks of the campaign as leading candidates discussed inflation, strip mining, the state surplus, possible tax reductions, a soldier bonus and the plight of white collar workers.

To add to the pot-pourri, L. J. Taber, former national grange master and former state director of agriculture, urged all farmers to vote a straight Republican ticket.

The candidates for governor, Democratic Governor Frank J. Lausche and the Republican who seeks to unseat him, former Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert, meanwhile renewed their debate on strip mining control.

Herbert asserted at Conneaut that "there should be more action on the strip mining problem instead of more glittering promises raised in the heat of the campaign."

* * *

Lausche countered with a charge that Herbert, in the six years he was in the state house as attorney general, never raised his voice against the "evils" of strip mining, and declared that "if the legislature had responded to my request, today we would have a statute in Ohio dealing with the wrong."

In Cincinnati Lausche and U. S. Sen. James W. Huffman, a Lausche appointee, attempted to swing votes in the GOP stronghold, with Huffman declaring that his opponent, former Gov. John W. Bricker, was the "inflation candidate."

Huffman charged Bricker with "shedding crocodile tears" over the plight of teachers and white collar workers, but that he failed to help them when as governor he was in position to do so.

Lausche charged that Herbert, in calling for a reduction in the state sales tax, was threatening "the whole financial policy of the state." Lausche said he was proud of the part he played in building up a state surplus that he placed at 160 million dollars.

* * *

In a speech at Defiance, Bricker commended the American Federation of Labor for its action in calling for an immediate end to all price controls. Bricker asserted: "AFL leaders and membership alike realize that not only severe food shortages, but also wholesale and damaging loss of employment has resulted from the vacillating and politically-motivated policies of the Truman administration.

Meanwhile, the War Veterans Republican clubs attacked the Lausche-for-governor committee for assertedly using the American Legion emblem for "political purposes." The clubs charged the emblem was used on the cover of a Lausche pamphlet, "contrary to the constitution, by-laws and principles of the American Legion."

BEVIN HOPEFUL

British Leader Voices Plea For International Amity.

LONDON—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin told the house of commons today he was "not unhopeful" that the major powers would achieve lasting amity.

He reaffirmed his determination to achieve understanding among the great powers—Great Britain, the United States, Russia, France, and China.

"It will not be the fault of His Majesty's government if it does not come," he declared, opening a two-day debate on basic British foreign policy.

RECORD CROWD—More than 1,600 Mansfielders jammed the sidewalk and foyer of the Ohio theater last night in a record turn-out for Billy Rose's "Carmen Jones," sponsored here for a one-night engagement by the Mansfield Shrine club. Standing in half-block long lines, theatergoers waited patiently for the doors to open (top), and waited again for Shrine club members to usher them to an over-capacity house (lower left, inset). The Shrine club, which brought "Crazy Quilt" here 20 years ago, reported today that it will revive such sponsorships of other big musicals.—(News-Journal staff photos.)

U. N. DRAWS WORLD GROUP

51 Nations Set For Opening of General Assembly.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Diplomats from over the world called their staffs and advisers into last-minute conferences today to shape the policies they will present in the meetings of the general assembly of the United Nations which open tomorrow in Flushing Meadow Park with President Truman as the welcoming speaker.

Most delegations already were settled in overcrowded New York hotels, but late-comers still were arriving by air from far parts of the globe. Among those due to arrive today were two prospective antagonists—Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, prime minister and foreign minister of the Union of South Africa, and Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit of India. Her plane trip was delayed by engine trouble at Algiers and then by the TWA pilots' strike in Shannon, Eire, where she changed planes.

The American delegation headed by former Senator Warren Austin of Vermont continued its day-long sessions of combing through the list of problems on the assembly agenda.

The report on five proposed sites surveyed in Westchester county will be made public tonight. As a counter to New York's offer of 350 acres in the 1939-40 world's fair grounds at Flushing, where the assembly will meet in the old New York City building, San Francisco is carrying on its campaign to convince the U. N. fathers that it has more spacious lands to offer with reasonable costs of building construction.

Show-Hungry City Lauds 'Carmen Jones' Players

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Theater fans—1,650 strong—filled every seat of the Ohio theater and even stood along the walls to see an opera brought up to date last night in time, setting and tempo.

And Billy Rose's "Carmen Jones" won the praise of all of them.

For the city, it was more than a one-night stand of a big musical. It signaled the revival of important road shows by the Mansfield Shrine club, whose membership brought the last big production here 20 years ago.

The 125 players left the city early today for Youngstown where they will play a two-day engagement.

Two-hundred persons were turned away last night for lack of space in the theater, club officers said today. About 100 mail orders were turned down at the last minute.

It was apparent that Mansfielders were show "hungry," not only from the over-capacity crowd, but from the patient way they stood in half-block long lines to be seated by Shrine club members before curtain time. Because of the big crowd, the show opened at 8:30, 15 minutes late.

Opera Story Retained.

Similarity of the modern version to the original Bizet opera, credit for which belongs to Oscar Hammerstein II, was excellently carried out in both the musical score and the story. The rich, warm voices of the all-colored cast

LEASE TO NAVY BEFORE COUNCIL

Special Meeting Called on Armory Site Request.

Whether Mansfield will lease four acres of land to the navy for a $300,000 armory will be discussed by councilmen meeting in special session tonight.

The navy tentatively has approved use of the site, located north of the National Guard armory on Ashland road. A formal "offering for lease" by council is needed before final papers may be drawn.

The armory building will cost some $100,000. It will house about $200,000 in equipment for training 200 men and 10 officers.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn in calling tonight's meeting, also placed on the docket a proposal to permit the city to go into the open market to purchase transformers for a weather station at the airport.

Food Supply Low In Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, P. R. — (INS) — Puerto Rican officials today feared possible mob violence and long food runs as the U. S. maritime strike reduced the island to a single week's supply of foodstuffs.

Gov. Jesus T. Pinero declared the situation was so serious that he has asked the American government to use army transports to bring in emergency supplies.

ONE SHIP TO ARRIVE

The Marine Devil is scheduled to arrive today at Oakland, Calif., with 2,007 army personnel from Yokohama. No other troopships are reported to arrive at U. S. ports.

LEWIS ISSUES NEW DEMANDS

Blast By Coal Union Chief Hints Another Walkout.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The government flatly rejected today the request of John L. Lewis for a negotiating conference Nov. 1 to discuss higher wages and shorter hours for his half million mine workers.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— John L. Lewis tossed the threat of a new soft coal strike at the Truman administration today, hinting broadly at new wage demands and charging the government with breach of contract.

Lewis' new challenge, ending nearly six months of comparative silence, could mean a walkout of the nation's 400,000 soft-coal miners by Nov. 20—on the icy edge of winter.

Unleashing his attack with sudden fury, the United Mine Workers' union boss accused the government of contract breaches resulting in "the loss of millions of dollars due to the mine workers."

In a letter to Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug yesterday, Lewis demanded that negotiations for a completely new contract to begin by November 1, and coupled with it a threat to tear up the existing contract in 30 days.

Krug, reached at Amarillo, Tex., during an inspection trip, expressed shock at Lewis' assertions.

"The government has not breached its contract with the United Mine Workers," he declared.

"I have already suggested to Mr. Lewis arbitration on these (disputed) points . . .

"The government's contract with the United Mine Workers covers wages, hours and working conditions during the period of government operation. It does not provide for reopening of the contract to revise wages or hours."

Police Stalled In Murder Case

CANTON—(INS)—Canton police authorities admitted today they had practically hit a stonewall in attempting to solve a Saturday morning double murder.

Questioning in the case was confined largely to former associates of the slain man, Joseph Norcia, 29, a sports promoter. He and Mrs. Shirley Ann Robinson, 20, divorced mother of a young boy, were killed by a single shotgun blast in front of his home.

Boys, Resentful of Punishment, Set $15,000 County Home Fire

ASHLAND — Three boys at the Ashland county children's home were held in the county jail today awaiting probate court hearing after they admitted setting fire to a large barn at the home Monday, causing damage estimated at $15,000.

The boys, aged 11, 13 and 14, were found hiding in a nearby woods four hours after the fire was discovered.

Fire Chief Paul Soles said the boys admitted firing the barn in retaliation for being sent to bed supperless Sunday evening as punishments for misdemeanors.

He quoted the youths as saying they set fires in two places but failed in an attempt to start a third blaze in the building, which was located 75 yards from a children's dormitory.

Ashland firemen removed a horse and a number of calves before flames engulfed the entire building, but the remaining contents were completely destroyed. The structure was burned to the ground.

Inadequate water facilities prevented use of more than one fire hose, Chief Soles said. The home is located several miles south of Ashland.

Almost the entire summer's harvest was lost. Contents destroyed included 700 bushels of oats, 370 bushels of wheat, 45 tons of hay, 53 bushels of apples, a quantity of ground feed, one horse, two tractors, a half-ton truck, cultivator, hay loader, side rake and wagon and other small equipment, children's home officials reported.

The fire was reported by a nearby resident, Milo Holmes, operator of the county home farm, was in Ashland. Cleo Fast, superintendent of the home, and his wife, who is home matron, are out of the city on vacation.

The building was valued at $10,000, with $5,000 additional estimated loss on contents. Insurance partially covered the loss.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

"Young man," said an irate father from the head of the stairs, "didn't I hear the clock strike four when you brought my daughter home?"

"You did," admitted the daughter's escort. "It was going to strike eleven, but I grabbed it and held the gong so it wouldn't disturb your slumber." The father could only mutter, "Daw-gone! Why didn't I think of that one in my courting days!"

A reverse twist of this story concerns the gay young mother who came home at three, and was dismayed to find her ten-year-old daughter waiting up in the library. "Darling," she cried, "I told you you didn't have to wait up for me."

"I know," said the little one grimly, "but who's going to let Grandma in?"

The picture star stopped off at a Wilshire Boulevard specialty shop and announced, "I'd like a pair of shorts to wear around my gymnasium." "Excellent," said the bemused clerk, reaching behind him. "Don't you think we'd better measure it for size?"

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK — If, as now appears probable, the Republicans should win congress and go on to elect a Republican president in 1948, serious, conscientious men among them should take early occasion to restore the true relation between government and the people and repudiate the ethics and social habits of the New Deal.

This would mean the resumption of government by consent of the governed, abandonment of the "crack down" psychology put into words by Hugh Johnson in Roosevelt's first great fascist experiment, the N. R. A., and applied to every relation between government and the people for thirteen years, and the withdrawal of the personalities of government from the cocktail bars, night clubs and alcoholic party-life of both Washington and New York.

Already the Trumans are to be thanked for their abolition of the unofficial but pestiferous and demoralizing post of "first lady" in which Mrs. Roosevelt wielded capricious power, all the while disowning any political character, although she recently confesses all when she wrote, in a little aside, that she felt relieved to have no longer "any direct responsibility for helping to run the world." There seems to be no likelihood that the wife of any of the present leading aspirants for the Republican nomination in 1948 would have the effrontery to assume any such "direct responsibility" as a privilege of her husband's office or that any of these men would be so uxorious as to let her get away with it if she tried.

Mrs. Dewey and Mrs. Bricker behaved reassuringly in 1944 and there have been no alarming signs from any of the others, but caution is advised.

* * *

A THING for Republicans to remember is that victory, in this case and in the circumstances that will beset the party with the mandate, calls for a sober, almost gloomy, sense of responsibility and personal honor. This will be no mere rout of the rascals in the old, conventional sense, by another set of predatory job-givers and jobholders, long denied and determined to enjoy to the utmost the powers, notoriety and luxury of official and social life in high places. We have been imposed upon so long by spectacular bar-flies, epitheticians and mountebanks recruited from mysterious obscurity and bitter frustration that many of the young Republican workers are included among the millions of Americans who never really knew any other attitude in government and in the personal character and conduct of bureaucrats. They probably will need schooling in the true meaning of duty. Here is a change that will demand work, not frivolity at night and gaudy personal publicity in the guttersnipe gossip of the hour: modesty, not vanity, devotion and patriotism.

Flippancy in the president, himself, toward responsibilities affecting the lives and fortunes of the people and the fate of the nation, has been passed as a counterfeit for spiritual courage and optimism in dark hours. On the contrary, it was cynicism, a reckless contempt for the obligation that a man assumes when he steps upon the scaffold before the capitol building and, placing his hand upon the book, swears to uphold the constitution. Riots were a subject of presidential jest and panoplied shysters in the department of justice mocked the law to justify evasions of the law's plain intent by violent men of the ruling party's adherence.

The mission of the next government should be to govern in a spirit of true honor, within the limits of the constitution, always with the thought that a few years more of the same greed, brutality, arrogance and contempt for principle might finish the destruction thus far so nobly advanced.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

ALONGSIDE the assembly of the United Nations the work of settling the war and pacifying the world goes on. They are separate operations and yet they are inseparable.

Without a settlement which could be made to work because it adjusts the essential interests of the big, the middle and the principal smaller powers, the United Nations could not become a universal society, it would be torn asunder by the conflicts of its members.

But without the United Nations, the ideal and the faith which it embodies, the organs of conciliation which it provides, and the body of universal law and custom of which it is the guardian and can be the creator, the best settlement conceivable would be at the mercy of changing circumstances within and among the powers.

It is to the settlement that we must address ourselves first and primarily. Here there is a momentary pause between the adjournment at Paris and the meeting of the four ministers who are to deal with the satellite treaties and then begin to discuss Germany.

It is a good time to ask ourselves whether there is not still a chance to repair the mistakes made the past year, and raise the whole effort of peace-making.

There may be such a chance if we are willing to recognize the basic error and then to seize an opportunity which has, I think, been opened to us.

* * *

SENATOR VANDENBERG spoke the other evening of our being engaged in making "a multiple peace."

This is an accurate phrase, and it lights up clearly what I have ventured to call the basic error of our peacemaking. A multiple peace should be embodied in a multiple treaty, covering if not a settlement of the global war then at a minimum all the European settlements.

The separate treaties for Germany, Italy, Austria, Hungary, etc., should be chapters in a European treaty. But we are not negotiating a multiple treaty. We are negotiating a series of separate treaties and we are proposing to conclude some of them before we have begun to discuss the rest of them.

This is the basic error which we should, if we can, correct.

The general interests of Europe and the peace of the world cannot be raised so efficiently against local, regional, and special interests if we conclude treaties in one special region of Europe—the one within the orbit of the Soviet Union—before we begin to negotiate about the other regions of Europe.

This is a way of aggravating at every division between east and west which we are striving to heal. It is also the way by which the influence and diplomatic power of the United States can be least effective.

* * *

MOLOTOV has given us the opportunity to repair the error by serving notice that the Soviet Union does not accept many of the recommendations of the Paris conference and supports the intransigence of Yugoslavia and the position of Bulgaria.

The proper answer, it would seem to me, is to tell Molotov that separate treaties in one region cannot now be concluded, that while we shall be glad to continue to negotiate on the moot points, these treaties should henceforth be regarded only as provisional chapters, and therefore subject to renegotiation, of a general European treaty — a statute of Europe — which it should be the object of the peace-makers to agree upon.

YOUTH INJURED, LEFT IN ROAD

Worker Found Semi-Conscious After Car Hits Him.

Two persons were injured in separate traffic accidents yesterday in Mansfield. A hitch-hiker told sheriff's officers he was struck by a hit-skip motorist, and police reported a pedestrian was seriously injured when trapped between a moving truck and a brick wall.

Albert Dunn, jr., 18, Greenwich, R. D. 1, who said he was struck by a hit-skip driver about 11 p. m. last night near the municipal airport, was reported in good condition at General hospital today.

Dunn was found lying at the side of the road shortly after 11 p. m. by Donald Henry, Mansfield, R. D. 1, and Charles Cohenour, Greenwich, R. D. 2, both passing motorists.

Sheriff's officers said he was semi-conscious and was taken to the hospital in an ambulance. He told them this morning that he was hitch-hiking home from the Westinghouse plant, where he is employed, when a vehicle struck him.

Alfred Grebler, 47, of 800 Park avenue east, suffered a broken hip and body bruises at 4:30 p. m. yesterday when he was caught between a truck and a brick wall in an East Sixth street alley.

The truck was driven by John Hickey, Indianapolis, Ind., who told police Grebler apparently was struck by the tailgate of his moving truck as Grebler was walking toward an unloading platform. He was reported in good condition at General hospital.

Vets Offered Jobs Helping Finish Homes at Vetsville

Veterans who are not union members may now help speed completion of the Vetsville project that is to be their future home, James L. Zimmerman, project official, said today.

Approval has been given by William L. Slagle, president of labor local 1216 to permit veterans who plan to occupy dwelling units on the project to work at common labor jobs, Zimmerman said.

Veterans need not join the union but they must obtain a work certificate costing $2 a month. Those desiring to work should report to Frank Fike, project superintendant.

The future tenants of Vetsville will be paid $1.04 an hour for their work. Work to be done includes ditching and other site improvement jobs.

With only three laborers working on the project at present there is plenty of work for the veterans to do if they want to come out during their spare time, Zimmerman explained.

The housing project also has need of several more carpenters, he added.

"Our appeals last week were answered by several carpenters but we can still use several more," he explained.

Approximately 10 to 15 units are expected to be completed this week, Zimmerman said.

Four families already have moved into the 75-unit emergency housing project which is sponsored by the McVey Post American Legion.

BOARD APPROVES 3 APPOINTMENTS

2 Teachers and 2 Clerks Get Jobs in City Schools.

Appointment of two teachers and two clerks in the Mansfield schools by Supt. W. L. Miller was confirmed last night by the board of education.

Resignations of two teachers and a clerk were accepted and one clerk was transferred.

Employed to teach in John Simpson junior high school was Charles J. Stoneburner, son of Rev. Charles Stoneburner of the First Methodist church. He will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Mary Leigh Otey who will join her husband in Florida.

Mrs A. LeMoine Derr was hired as a permanent substitute teacher at the Johnny Appleseed school, succeeding Mrs. Allene Rachel who resigned.

Miss Eloise Perkins was employed as clerk at Johnny Appleseed school, succeeding Mrs. Grace Willsey who resigned.

Miss Regina Finney was named clerk in the office of John H. Eisaman, board of education clerk. She takes the post left vacant by the transfer of Miss Dorothy Mayberry to the Hedges school office.

The board authorized payment of $7 a day additional to Mrs. Myrtle Houston, who holds the Mansfield school bus contract, for transporting pupils to and from half-day sessions at Western Avenue school and pupils in the Deaf school at Carpenter building to the John Simpson school to get their lunches.

By taking the pupils to the Simpson cafeteria, the schools eliminate one cook at the Carpenter building. The board will be reimbursed by the state for half of the additional bus expense.

Reports Accident Victim Improved

The condition of Dr. Paul A. Stoodt, Mansfield physician, who suffered fractures of the ribs and right forearm in an automobile accident near Ashland Sunday night, was reported as good at General hospital today.

Harold Donley, who was with Dr. Stoodt in the car at the time it crashed into a bridge, was in "fair" condition. Donley suffered fractures of both legs. Donley, of Northumberland, Pa., is a former Mansfield resident.

Jess James Blount of Massillon, who was injured in the car accident near Mifflin early Saturday morning in which David Joiner, also of Massillon, was killed, was in good condition at the General hospital, but L. C. Jones, the third man in the car when it crashed into a tree, continued in fair condition the hospital reported.

Showers Likely Tomorrow Night

Mansfielders were assured today of continued fair and mild weather, but were warned to keep their raincoats handy tomorrow.

The weatherman predicted temperatures in the 70s this afternoon. The high yesterday at Hayesville was 62, while the low up to 8 a. m. today was 40.

The prediction for tomorrow is partly cloudy and mild, with scattered light showers in the north portion of Ohio tomorrow night.

GETS HOME PERMIT

Michael Mayer, 620 McPherson street, today was issued a permit for the construction of an $8,500 home at the McPherson street address.

THEN LIBERTY PARK OFFICERS APPROVE SITE

Groups Argue For and Against Building on Central Avenue Extension.

The dispute over selection of a Newman school site on Central avenue extension spilled over into the board of education meeting last night after a protesting group submitted a petition bearing more than 500 names to the board. The petitioners objected to the sites picked by the board.

For more than an hour two groups from the Newman district argued for and against the new school site with the board serving as a mediator.

When it was over the board said it could not see no reason for changing the site which has the approval of the Newman Parent-Teacher association and Liberty Park association.

Carl F. Weber, 397 Newman street, a barber, one of the three men who protested selection of the site, told the board he didn't want "a quarter of a million dollar school built among some shacks."

3 Offer Protests.

Weber and E. E. Hines, 433 Newman street, were chief spokesmen for the opposition group, both arguing that it would have been better to build the school at First and Patton avenues or even at the corner of Grace street and Central avenue extension. With them was Charles Martin.

H. W. Arlin, board president, told them the First and Patton avenues site was unsuitable for a building and houses at the other site would make the cost prohibitive.

The site chosen by the board is about 120 feet north of Grace street on the unpaved Central avenue extension.

Five representatives of the Liberty Park association, headed by Steve Gerber, president, and Emil Eisen, secretary, told the board their group was "well satisfied" with the site, adding they were convinced that once the school is built, the shacks will soon be cleared away, because the value of nearby property will rise.

Praises Board.

Eisen said he believed the board had "played fair" in selecting one of three prospective sites recommended by the PTA and Liberty Park association.

"Why tear down badly needed houses? Let's build a school there and improve the surroundings," urged Daniel Dech, one of the Liberty Park representatives.

Arlin pointed out that there was nothing in the bond issue voted last fall for purchase of a Newman site, and it was necessary for the board to buy as economically as possible.

When the session broke up, Hines said: "It appears no one has changed his opinion here tonight, and the school is going to go where the board purchased the site."

Speaking for the Liberty Park association, Eisen asked for any surplus earth available at the school site for use in the park and told the board parks workers would be glad to help clear the site in exchange for some lumber from razed buildings.

TYGERS TIED FOR SECOND IN POLL

SPORTS ROUND UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Off yesterday's meeting, the New York Football Writers' association should change its name to the Glenn Davis Admiration society. . . . Lou Little, Columbia coach, touched off the discussion when he said: "Davis is the best running halfback I ever have seen in football. Steve Owen says there's one thing that will stop Davis—graduation. And I hope that happens soon." . . . The writers who saw Army whip Columbia Saturday (including this one) agreed with Lou. . . . Against wartime opposition, all Davis had to do was run faster than the tacklers. Now he has to exercise his superb sidestepping skill. He passes expertly (and don't forget that Doc Blanchard is a great pass receiver, does the kicking while Blanchard's injured knee still is uncertain and the guy apparently doesn't know when he's stopped.

SHORTS AND SHELLS.

Matty Begovich, Pat Kennedy's oversize shadow, has been named chief of officials for the American Basketball league just as Pat will head the whistle tooters for the Basketball Association of America. . . . Ray Flaherty, New York football Yankees' coach, can't bear to see a football in the air these days. His club faced Otto Graham and Glen Dobbs on successive Saturdays and will run into Charley O'Rourke and Angelo Bertelli next week-end.

Jersey Jones, manager of Charley Burley, checks in with a beef because the New York athletic commission has accepted Jake Lamotta as No. 1 middleweight contender. Since Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano don't clash again until March 21 and the winner will have six months grace before defending the title, Jersey figures Burley, Marcel Cerdan and George Abrams are being shoved aside for a year.

Carpenter and Hedges Win

Carpenter and Hedges emerged victorious yesterday afternoon in the grade school touch football league.

Carpenter defeated Woodland 20 to 0, and Cline scored a lone touchdown for Hedges to edge a victory over Brinkerhoff 7 to 0. Miller ran around right end for the extra point.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock Bowman vs. West Fifth at Simpson field and Newman plays Western at North Lake park.

Pro Basketball Group Organized

CHICAGO—(AP)—Fifty-two professional basketball teams from coast to coast agreeing to work in unison have become members of a national association in the first move towards a gigantic farm system for the game's "major" leagues.

The formation of "The National Association of Professional Basketball Leagues" was completed yesterday. Conspicuous by its absence in the new organization was the powerful Pro Basketball Association of America sponsored by the Arena Managers' association with members in New York, Boston, Providence, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Washington, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cleveland, Detroit, Toronto and Chicago.

SPORTS FALLACIES

By MARGERY MILLER

Central Press Sports Writer

"OH, WHY," wails the football fan whose team is on the defensive, "are they crazy using a five-man line? If ever they needed to stop rushes it is now."

The fan does not realize that contrary to popular belief the 5-3-2-1 defense is very strong against rushes. The three backers-up of the line give it all the strength of an eight-man wall. The 5-3-2-1 is also a good defense against passes. It is, however, vulnerable to bucks and spinners.

If a seven-man line were employed, either in a 7-1-2-1 or a 7-2-2 defense, defense against passes would be less flexible and little, if anything, would be gained in defense against rushes.

Massillon, Waite In Deadlock

By JOHN BARRINGTON

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Cathedral Latin clung to its perch atop the state scholastic football heap today, but it was a precarious hold at best that the Clevelanders enjoyed.

Sportswriters participating in the weekly International News Service poll cooled off noticeably on Latin after its scoreless tie with Holy Name. In fact, the Cathedral Latin margin was due in large part to inability of the scribes to settle on a principal challenger.

So close was the balloting that three teams wound up in a dead heat for second place while the entire "big ten" picked by the writers made it a true blanket finish.

1. Cleveland Cathedral Latin
2. Mansfield
   Toledo Waite
   Massillon
5. Canton McKinley
6. Dayton Chaminade
7. Campbell Memorial
8. Lima Central
9. Steubenville Central Catholic
10. Youngstown Woodrow Wilson

Support swung back to Toledo Waite as that school defeated Steubenville, 32-12. Previously, the Stubbers had proven anything but easy pickings for poll favorites Massillon and Campbell.

Tied with Waite were Massillon and Mansfield, teams that, appropriately enough, played to a 12-all deadlock when they met Friday night.

That turn of events caused Canton McKinley and Dayton Chaminade the unique experience of slipping in the standings despite thumping victories over the week-end. McKinley, a 60-20 winner over Akron Central, fell from third to fifth, and Chaminade was pushed from fourth to sixth although it defeated Lancaster, 48-0.

Both were the merest shade behind the four leaders.

Although they failed to better their respective positions, seventh place Campbell and eighth place Lima Central received more support than in any previous poll.

Campbell rolled up a 25-7 score on Cleveland West Tech, while Lima Central handed Middletown its first defeat, 7-0. It was the sixth straight this season for both Memorial and Central.

Steubenville Central Catholic, tied by Weirton, remained in ninth place. There was a new occupant in tenth position, however, Youngstown Woodrow Wilson replacing Middletown. Wilson became the third team in as many weeks to slip into the select group by virtue of its 20-7 triumph over East Liverpool.

The Wilson margin was very scant over Toledo Libbey, upset conqueror of Waite, and Barberton, a six time winner.

A SATISFYING PUNCH—Audrey Vanterpool, who played the role of Carmen in "Carmen Jones," and her understudy, Doris Brown, look on with much satisfaction as Dick Alexander lands one of his ferocious lefts on a heavy bag that he will throw at Johnny Bryant Wednesday night at the Armory. Alexander and Bryant meet in one of the two main eight-round fights on Promoters Rex Reese and Sam Miller's fight card. Shown with the Misses Vanterpool and Brown and Alexander is "Honeyboy" Jones, Alexander's trainer.

Madison Rams Play Freddies

Mansfield Madison will be after its fourth consecutive gridiron victory Thursday night against Fredericktown on the Madison field at 8 o'clock.

The Rams have been victorious in four of their six starts this season, three over league opponents.

Coach Jeff DeHaven has been stressing offense this week and working on a few defensive flaws in certain line positions and added some down field blocking to the drills.

Captain Jack Cleckner had his nose re-broken at Doylestown and will probably be shelved this week. Dick Morris who received a shoulder injury should be ready to play Thursday.

DeHaven is confident that the Rams can win Thursday if they play the style of football shown the past three weeks.

Hockey Barons Rest

The Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey league rested today after their first four games in five days gave them the division leadership with three victories and a tie.

Willard Plays At Appleseed

Johnny Appleseed junior high school entertains Willard tomorrow afternoon while the John Simpson gridders travel to Marion for their weekly football contest.

Coach Norm Henline's Pioneers will be after their fourth grid victory on the Appleseed field at 4 o'clock. Earlier this season Willard held Appleseed to a 0-0.

The Appleseed-Shelby game for Thursday has been canceled.

Coach Bob Kennedy's Simpson Bulldogs will be after their fifth win against Marion.

The Bulldogs defeated Ashland 19 to 13, last Wednesday, with three of the regular Bulldog backs on the injured list.

Army Boosts First Place Margin In Poll

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK — (AP) — Boosted back to first place among the nation's football teams a week ago by the country's sports writers, Col. Red Blaik's army team zipped farther out in front in the Associated Press weekly poll today.

At the same time Notre Dame boosted its second place margin over Texas, and Tennessee, Northwestern, Georgia and North Carolina came skipping up the trail off their successes of last Saturday.

All together, 156 sports writers from every section of the country ballotted in this third week of the Associated Press' poll for the 1946 gridiron season. Texas drew 25 less votes for first place than it did a week ago, in spite of its 20-0 win over Arkansas last Saturday, and Notre Dame dropped 10 off its top-place selections.

Army picked up all of these 35, and more besides, when it crushed Columbia 48-14 and handed Lou Little's Lions their first setback of the campaign. They already had defeated Villanova, Oklahoma, Cornell and Michigan.

As a result of all this, Army piled up 112 first-place picks, and an additional one-quarter top-spot vote, cast by an undecided ticket-splitter who couldn't make up his mind among the Cadets, the Irish, the Longhorns of Texas or the Quakers of Pennsylvania for the place at the head of the parade.

The Volunteers of Tennessee, upsetters of Alabama, picked up six top selections along the way. The only other outfit to be named to lead a ticket was the coast conference favorites from the University of California at Los Angeles, who were selected on two ballots.

Notre Dame held second with 1,331½ and Texas third with 1,262½.

With the top trio remaining in their same order Tennessee zoomed up from ninth place to fourth with 898 points as a result of its 12-0 decision over 'Bama, which left the Vols unbeaten and untied after four starts. The vault of the Vols dropped U.C.L.A. to fifth with 800 and left Penn, 40-0 winner over Virginia, sixth with 699½. Georgia, 33-13 victor over Oklahoma A. & M., moved up to seventh, with 548.

Michigan and Northwestern each collected 418 points to wind up in an exact tie, which is exactly how they wound up in their collision last Saturday—at 14-all. Rounding out the select set, North Carolina collected 110 points for tenth place after the surprise party the Tarheels threw for Navy Saturday.

Kenny Funk May Miss Ashland-Hiram Game

ASHLAND, O.—(AP)—The Ashland Eagles may be minus the services of Kenny Funk, their triple-threat star, when they meet Hiram here Saturday in Ashland's first homecoming game since 1940.

Funk suffered a knee injury in Saturday's game at Wittenberg. The teams have met only once. Ashland defeating Hiram 8 to 7 in 1922.

Stagg Back To Midway, and He's Still a Football Coach

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER, Central Press Correspondent.

CHICAGO—The man who is "Mr. Football" to countless followers of the grid sport is about to make a sentimental journey back to this town where from the days when the game was young until he went to the coast a few years ago he rolled up triumph after triumph.

He is Amos Alonzo Stagg, whose College of the Pacific football team on Oct. 26 will play, not at his beloved University of Chicago where the giant stadium that bears his name is a boarded-up atomic bomb laboratory, but against his once arch across-town rival, Northwestern university.

Stagg, 84 years young, is in his 57th coaching season, and is piling up more evidence to support his contention 14 years ago that he was too young to retire at the University of Chicago's official retirement age.

To Chicago, Stagg will seem like a walking ghost out of the past, but a very live one! Already they are squirming down on the Midway at the prospect of his arriving, hale and hearty, at Northwestern with a strong team in the sport that the University of Chicago apparently had to abandon without him.

To the University of Chicago, there couldn't be a worse time for "the Old Man" to show up in these parts, and at Northwestern of all places! The Maroons have just pulled out of the Big Ten, leaving it a Big Nine which the remaining members have refused to enlarge for the time-being.

The rumor factory is operating again since Chancellor Robert Maynard Hutchins, vigorous critic of football, took a leave of absence—some say permanently leaving the University of Chicago—to direct adult education for an encyclopedia. Maybe Chicago will make a move one of these days to stage a football comeback, they whisper.

Stagg on Oct. 26 will look like Banquo's ghost—that eerie gentleman who shakes the nerve of Shakespeare's Macbeth — to the University of Chicago, the blood of its recent withdrawal from the Big Ten still fresh on its hands.

There was no such motive in A. A. Stagg's mind, however, when last year he scheduled Northwestern for this fall. He said he simply wanted "to play one more game in Chicago."

But Stagg, who goes on and on while others come and go, said the same thing in 1938 when he brought his College of the Pacific eleven to Stagg field for a game with his erstwhile Maroons, then performing under his successor, Clark Shaughnessy, and rampaged to a 32-0 victory.

Not only did Stagg prove dramatically that Chicago really did drop him while he had plenty of football left, but tiny Pacific, with a student body of 814, blasted Chicago's theory that dwindling male undergraduate enrollment made football impractical there. Chicago's enrollment was 7,890.

Even though football was blinking out on the Midway, Stagg's homecoming was a terrific occasion. Moist-eyed Maroon athletic authorities, unable to bear the thought of the "Old Man" sitting on the visitors' side of the stadium named for him, pushed Chicago's bench to one side, and both Pacific and Chicago sat on the "home side" of the field.

About once a year Stagg makes a sentimental journey to Chicago, and these visits are nightmares to the football foes at his old school. The Maroon gridiron "greats" of bygone years rally 'round and dance on the Midway like a bevy of Halloween ghosts and hobgoblins determined to scare the wits out of the Hutchins "new school" brigade.

Stagg's trip to once-hated Evanston, however, is no mere gesture. It is a full-scale football invasion, and from all advance indications it promises to be as determined an effort on his part to hold a necktie party for the Wildcats as ever he plotted of old. He'll be out to win, and no one knows it better than Coach Lynn Waldorf and his Northwestern gridders.

What Makes An All-American?

Speed, stamina, courage, quick thinking, coordination . . . it takes a lot of things to be an All-American. Ask a coach and he'll tell you the first requirement is a strong, well-developed body, a body built steadily and soundly during the years from babyhood to young manhood.

It's likely, too, that he will point out the important part milk plays in building good husky bodies, for milk is Nature's most complete food. And now, Homogenization, a scientific process which Isaly's use, makes milk even better and more nourishing. Yes, Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk is far superior to regular milk. It tastes richer and creamier, digests quicker and easier, and every quart contains 400 Vitamin D units, the amount nutrition authorities say all growing youngsters should have daily to help build sturdy bones and sound teeth.

So Dad, if there's a future broad-shouldered All-American at your house, give him the right start now with Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. He deserves the best. Have mother phone us tomorrow for convenient home delivery service. The number is 4217-6.

Homogenized Milk is Pasteurized milk scientifically processed by forcing every drop through very small openings at extremely high pressure. This produces nearly 10 times more butterfat globules. These tiny cream particles then combine with the milk and never separate. Thus, there's cream through the entire quart. Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk is available at any grocery and all Isaly Dairy stores.

I hope to be back with you as soon as they realize here at the Sanatorium how foolish their idea is — that I am a nut. I'm perfectly sane. Sometimes I'm afraid I'm the only sane man here. None of my doctors seem to realize I am half sardine and must be kept in oil or I will spoil.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

The Green Meadows were still green, for new grass was still growing to take the place of that which had been cut for hay. New grass likes cool weather. But the Green Forest was green only where the evergreen trees, the pines and spruces and hemlocks and balsams and cedars grow. The other trees were brown or yellow or red, and a few were already bare. The Old Pasture was brown. The dear Old Briar-patch itself was brown and yellow with touches of red here and there. It was fall, the time of year when Peter Rabbit isn't sure whether it is a glad time or a sad time or both.

With the Squirrel cousins, Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel, Rusty the Fox Squirrel, Chatterer the Red Squirrel and Striped Chipmunk, it is the very best time in all the year, for it is the harvest time, when nuts and seeds are ready to be gathered and stored away for winter use. They are too busy to feel sad. Busy folks have no time for sadness. It was much the same with Lightfoot the Deer and Buster Bear. They were feasting on acorns and the sweet little three-sided beechnuts, growing fat with the good eating. They had no place for sadness, only gladness.

Thunderer the Grouse and Mrs. Grouse were also feasting, but their gladness was tempered with sadness for every now and then the bang of a dreadful gun reminded them that only in this part of the Green Forest where Farmer Brown would not allow any shooting were they safe, and that dreadful fright and suffering and an end to living were happening to others, perhaps even to some of their own children. So as they picked up the sweet little beechnuts there was gladness, but there was sadness when they heard the distant dreadful guns.

The Merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind stole into the dear Old Briar-patch and gently shook loose the little brown leaves and little yellow leaves and little red leaves that were ready to let go of the twigs to which they clung ever since throwing off their little brown blankets in the spring. A little red leaf fluttered down at Peter's feet and another tickled his whiskers. It made Peter shake his head.

"I don't like falling leaf time," said Peter.

"What is the matter with falling leaf time? It is a lovely time. It isn't too hot and it isn't too cold. There is plenty to eat. If those two-legged hunters with fire-sticks would just stay at home it would be perfect," said Little Mrs. Peter.

"Don't worry, my dear. They won't come over here to the dear Old Briar-patch," said Peter.

"I know that as well as you do. What is more, I have sense enough to stay right here which is more sense than you have, but just the same every time I hear one of those fire-sticks I jump," retorted Mrs. Peter.

"I wish the leaves would stop falling," said Peter.

"Why?" asked Mrs. Peter. "Is it because when all have fallen we can be seen so much easier?"

"Partly," admitted Peter. "But it wasn't that I was thinking of. Those falling leaves give me a sort of lonesome feeling. That's what they do."

"Pooh! Why should worn-out old leaves falling make you feel lonesome? I'm here just the same. Isn't that enough?" retorted little Mrs. Peter.

"Of course my dear. Of course," replied Peter hastily. "It isn't that kind of lonesomeness."

"If it isn't that kind, what kind is it? If you are lonesome with me right here, who are you lonesome for? Tell me that, Peter Rabbit. And what have falling leaves go to do with it?" retorted Mrs. Peter, rather sharply.

"Why—why——" began Peter and paused, not knowing just how to explain how he felt.

"Why what?" demanded Mrs. Peter.

"Why, they make me think of all our feathered friends who have gone away, and of all those who soon will go, and—and—well, I just feel lonesome. That's all," said Peter.

MARKET DIPS WITH STEEL, MOTORS WEAK

Dealings, Slow at Opening, Become More Urgent Near Midday.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Steels and motors led a general decline in today's stock market after an early selective recovery attempt failed to attract a following.

Dealings, slow most of the time, picked up a bit before midday as selling orders became a bit more urgent although the ticker tape frequently halted.

Prominent on the offside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Schenley, American Smelting, Eastman Kodak, Douglas Aircraft and Kennecott.

Cotton, up $5 a bale at the start, lost part of its advance.

Envelope Dearth Slows Leave Pay

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Distribution of $2,700,000,000 in terminal leave pay to war veterans is being delayed by a shortage of envelopes.

Announcing this today, Maj. Gen. W. H. Kaston, army chief of finance, said it probably will be next month before there are sufficient envelopes of proper size to mail out the five year treasury bonds which make up the bulk of the payments.

Produce Market

CLEVELAND PRODUCE

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Government graded eggs in cases (consumer grades) large AA 70c, large A 66c, medium 58c. Potatoes $2.35-3.65 per cwt. Sweet potatoes $2.70-3.75 bu.

WATER DROPS

BUCYRUS — Extremely dry weather has caused the water table in Crawford county to drop 5.4 feet, County Agent Russell Miller stated today. The average drop in the water table for the first nine months of the year is 3.16 feet, Miller reported.

ONLY A HEAP of blackened ruins remained today after fire destroyed a barn at the Ashland county home. Three boys admitted setting the fire in retaliation for being punished on Sunday. (See story on Page 1.)—News-Journal photo by Bachman.

STOCK PRICES VARY; BUYERS SHOW CAUTION

Wide Commodity Fluctuation Keeps Wall Street Uneasy, Declare Brokers.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Leading stocks jogged over a slightly irregular route in today's market.

Widely fluctuating commodities, brokers said, still served as the principal cautionary factor for speculative and investment stock contingents.

Trading in cotton futures was resumed following Saturday's suspension and losses of as much as $10 a bale were registered at the start. Bonds were uneven.

Resistant stocks included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, du Pont, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Southern Pacific. Transcontinental & Western Air common dropped better than a point as the company's pilots went on strike. Laggards were Youngstown Sheet, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, American Smelting, American Can, Consolidated Edison, Standard Oil (NJ), International Nickel, and N. Y. Central.

DAY WITH FIREMEN — A fireman's day is a busy and varied one and not always is he busy fighting fires. Picture at upper left shows Fire Chief L. J. Steele (left) checking the call board as Fireman Clarence Donnan answers the fire phone. Upper right, firemen gather 'round for a hearty meal to keep in shape for their hazardous work. Busy repairing department equipment "between blazes" are a group of "smoke eaters," (lower left). Lower right shows a fireman engaged in one of the less popular but more necessary "chores" of a fireman's life.

Peek Through Engine House No. 1 Reveals That Local Firemen Keep Themselves Busy

By AL PREYER

"What does a fireman do when he's not fighting fires?"

This was the question we posed to Lonnie J. Steele, chief of the Mansfield fire department.

"Come with me and see for yourself," he replied as he led the way to the rear of Engine House No. 1, located at the City building.

We entered a room that can best be described as a "hobbyist's dream room." It was filled with men and machines—tools and toys—and a bench piled high with cigar boxes which, it was explained, contained the "odds and ends" with which toys and radios are repaired.

Gathered around a bright-red lathe (it would have to be red, you know—in keeping with the general color scheme) were several of the nine-man crew which serve a 24-hour shift with Captain Virgil Norris.

"Meet the boys of the crew who work with 'Cap' Norris," Chief Steele said, and I shook hands with Dan Snyder, John Fleming, Irvin Remy, Chester Ramsey, George Gump, John Gutherie, Clarence Donnan, Wilson McLean, better known as the "Scotchman," and Bill Knackstedt.

"We work on everything," the men explained. "If it doesn't work when it comes in, it sure will when it goes out. Some time when it's a dreary, rainy day, and you've nothing else to do—come down and we'll teach you how to wind a motor."

"This activity is sparetime stuff," they said, carried on after the daily household chores are done. And the daily routine is no picnic. They report at 7:30 in the morning and do the downstairs work—such as scrubbing the station and their "rigs" (fire engines to you).

At 9 a. m. there is a "drill" during which all the rigs and equipment get a thorough check, after which the boys become "chamber maids without the lace caps and aprons" as they troop upstairs to make-up their dormitory.

"It all adds up to our being in training to make someone a good wife," it was laughingly stated. Looking at the polish and shine around the place I thought that some housewives might be a bit envious of the spic and span job done.

From then on—fires not interfering—their time is their own, and one could see plainly that very good use is made of it.

Meals are prepared and served at the station by chefs of the crew—Remy and Dan Snyder. "The only way you can judge it is to have a helping," the chief commented. (Right then and there a date was made to take pictures around meal time soon!)

The boys are really fanatics about all sports although their duties don't permit them to organize teams and participate. "You see," they explained, "when you have to spend 24 hours away from home you want to spent the next 24 at home so that leaves no time for many outside activities."

"But we've 100 per cent Tyger fans," they said almost in unison.

Of course the firefighters are continually studying to keep up with the latest developments in fire fighting techniques, as well as keeping their own equipment in good condition.

Getting up into the working end of the station, the alarm system was explained with its arrangement for checks and double checks for all alarms that come in.

"The newer fellows don't usually go to the phone as they don't want to miss the rear end of a rig as it leaves the house," I was told. "However, the old timers get the phone and get into their equipment before we leave. In cold weather we always try to get the fellows in their clothes before the wagons leave the fire house and that means speed plus. It usually takes us about 45 seconds before we're rolling," the chief said.

"We have an alarm system rigged up so that the boys don't have to be right by the phone all the time," it was pointed out. "I'll show you how it works. "Test run, fellows," he shouted. "No need to bother about this ring." Stepping to the desk he pulled a lever and a gong rang in the hobby-room.

The way those firemen instinctively started to their stations left your reporter with the very comfortable feeling that Mansfielders can be sure that their men are on the beam and ready to go at the slightest tingle of that bell.

OHIO ELECTION RIVALS SLING VERBAL BLOWS

Candidates Fuss Over State Problems as Campaign Hits Last Lap.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — A barrage from political scatterguns today opened the last two weeks of the campaign as leading candidates discussed inflation, strip mining, the state surplus, possible tax reductions, a soldier bonus and the plight of white collar workers.

To add to the pot-pourri, L. J. Taber, former national grange master and former state director of agriculture, urged all farmers to vote a straight Republican ticket.

The candidates for governor, Democratic Governor Frank J. Lausche and the Republican who seeks to unseat him, former Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert, meanwhile renewed their debate on strip mining control.

Herbert asserted at Conneaut that "there should be more action on the strip mining problem instead of more glittering promises raised in the heat of the campaign."

* * *

Lausche countered with a charge that Herbert, in the six years he was in the state house as attorney general, never raised his voice against the "evils" of strip mining, and declared that "if the legislature had responded to my request, today we would have a statute in Ohio dealing with the wrong."

In Cincinnati Lausche and U. S. Sen. James W. Huffman, a Lausche appointee, attempted to swing votes in the GOP stronghold, with Huffman declaring that his opponent, former Gov. John W. Bricker, was the "inflation candidate."

Huffman charged Bricker with "shedding crocodile tears" over the plight of teachers and white collar workers, but that he failed to help them when as governor he was in position to do so.

Lausche charged that Herbert, in calling for a reduction in the state sales tax, was threatening "the whole financial policy of the state." Lausche said he was proud of the part he played in building up a state surplus that he placed at 160 million dollars.

* * *

In a speech at Defiance, Bricker commended the American Federation of Labor for its action in calling for an immediate end to all price controls. Bricker asserted:

"AFL leaders and membership alike realize that not only severe food shortages, but also wholesale and damaging loss of employment has resulted from the vacillating and politically-motivated policies of the Truman administration.

Meanwhile, the War Veterans Republican clubs attacked the Lausche - for - governor committee for assertedly using the American Legion emblem for "political purposes." The clubs charged the emblem was used on the cover of a Lausche pamphlet, "contrary to the constitution, by-laws and principles of the American Legion."

British Leader Voices Plea For International Amity.

LONDON—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin told the house of commons today he was "not unhopeful" that the major powers would achieve lasting amity.

He reaffirmed his determination to achieve understanding among the great powers—Great Britain, the United States, Russia, France, and China.

"It will not be the fault of His Majesty's government if it does not come," he declared, opening a two-day debate on basic British foreign policy.

Tygers' Leading Scorer Out for Season

RECORD CROWD—More than 1,600 Mansfielders jammed the sidewalk and foyer of the Ohio theater last night in a record turn-out for Billy Rose's "Carmen Jones," sponsored here for a one-night engagement by the Mansfield Shrine club. Standing in half-block long lines, theatergoers waited patiently for the doors to open (top), and waited again for Shrine club members to usher them to an over-capacity house (lower left, inset). The Shrine club, which brought "Crazy Quilt" here 20 years ago, reported today that it will revive such sponsorships of other big musicals.—(News-Journal staff photos.)

Horvath's Leg Broken In Practice

Mansfield Senior high school's bid for an undefeated football season received a severe blow last night when Kenny Horvath, outstanding Tyger fullback, suffered a broken leg in a practice session at Stadium field.

The accident occurred as Horvath was tackled near the sidelines about 5:30 p. m. shortly before the end of the practice session. The Tygers, at the time, were running plays against passive resistance.

Dr. Robert Crawford, team physician, immediately took Horvath to General hospital.

Coach Paul Snyder said he planned to use Harry Osbun, a sophomore, at fullback against Canton Timken Friday night. Osbun showed much promise in the Sandusky game, in which he scored one touchdown.

Bill McKee, veteran halfback, quit the squad following the Massillon game.

* * *

Horvath, leading Mansfield ground gainer and high-point scorer, was rated as one of the best backs in Ohio scholastic circles this season. The 165-pound senior had counted 11 touchdowns and gained 571 yards in 94 carries, an average of 6.7 yards a try.

Horvath's biggest scoring splurge was in the opening game of the campaign when he picked up four touchdowns against Marion Harding. The powerful linebucker scored three times in the Springfield game, twice against Sandusky and once in each of the Massillon and Portsmouth encounters.

His longest run was a 40-yard smash over center for the second score of the Sandusky contest. He carried for 150 yards in 12 plays against Sandusky.

Industry lagged behind with only $31,642 collected toward a goal of $63,000. Uptown divisions at noon today were only $2,011 short of their goal of $32,430 with $30,419 pledged.

Over-the-top divisions and their chairmen are: Professions, headed by Howard Doner; women's division, led by Mrs. Louis P. Jisa; and retail division headed by Willis F. Carto.

Professions, solicited by the Mansfield Life Underwriters' association, turned in $3,725. Assisting the physicians' group were Dr. W. E Wygant and Dr. Karl T. Langacher. The professions goal was $3,480.

Mrs. Jisa, who set a new goal for the women's division today of $6,500, $1,050 over the Community Fund figure, turned in $5,829 at 9 p m. last night.

Mrs. Jisa said she was confident that the women's group could attain the new goal since only two of the 19 groups within the division have completed their solicitations.

Division turning in the highest margin over its goal was the retail group, headed by Carto, who reported $5,689, or $1,649 over the goal.

Today's report to the campaign office in the YMCA building also showed that 26 unit chairmen of the various uptown groups had gone over their quotas. They are, by groups:

Professions: Robert Horn, John T. Shook, William T. McKee, W. E. Goode and D. Osborne Meese.

CIO ENGINEER UNION SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

Negotiations Continue With AFL Group in Move For East Coast Accord.

(By Associated Press)

A break appeared today in the 22-day old national maritime strike which has paralyzed nearly all American shipping as leaders of the CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the East and Gulf Coast operators signed a contract to settle their crippling maritime walkout.

The operators have not, however, reached agreement with the second union involved in the dispute—the AFL Masters, Mates, and Pilots union, and a CIO union spokesman said the engineers would continue to respect the AFL union's picket line.

The AFL union planned to resume negotiations with the operators later today and an agreement and ratification would leave only the west coast strikebound. The unions are to negotiate with the Pacific Coast operators later.

Terms of the agreement between the meba and operators were not immediately disclosed. Wages were the chief issues in the dispute between the operators and both unions.

Air Strike Goes On.

Meanwhile transportation on the more than 28,000 miles of routes from California to Arabia by Trans World airlines was halted for the second day by the strike of 1,400 AFL pilots, the first pilots' strike in history.

As 115 TWA planes remained grounded there appeared no indication of immediate settlement of the wage dispute and the company cancelled its operations for another 24 hours.

In other continuing labor disputes, new efforts were to be made to settle the lengthy general trucking strike in New York City and the 22-day old transit tieup in Columbus, O.

Chain Stores Open.

There was a measure of relief in the New York trucking walkout as 500 A & P Food stores opened their stores for the first time since Sept. 14, following an agreement between the chain's contract carriers and striking AFL drivers granting increased wages.

In Columbus, city officials asked for an opinion on the legality of negotiations with another company for furnishing mass transportation on the city street after the Columbus & Southern Electric company rejected recommendations for settlement of the wage dispute with the striking CIO Transport Workers' union. The union accepted the proposals, which included a 14-cent-an-hour wage boost.

U. N. DRAWS WORLD GROUP

51 Nations Set For Opening of General Assembly.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Diplomats from over the world called their staffs and advisers into last-minute conferences today to shape the policies they will present in the meetings of the general assembly of the United Nations which open tomorrow in Flushing Meadow Park with President Truman as the welcoming speaker.

Most delegations already were settled in overcrowded New York hotels, but late-comers still were arriving by air from far parts of the globe. Among those due to arrive today were two prospective antagonists—Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, prime minister and foreign minister of the Union of South Africa, and Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit of India Her plane trip was delayed by engine trouble at Algiers and then by the TWA pilots' strike in Shannon, Eire, where she changed planes.

The American delegation headed by former Senator Warren Austin of Vermont continued its day - long sessions of combing through the list of problems on the assembly agenda.

The report on five proposed sites surveyed in Westchester county will be made public tonight. As a counter to New York's offer of 350 acres in the 1939-40 world's fair grounds in Flushing, where the assembly will meet in the old New York City building, San Francisco is carrying on its campaign to convince the U. N. fathers that it has more spacious lands to offer with reasonable costs of building construction.

Show-Hungry City Lauds 'Carmen Jones' Players

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Theater fans—1,650 strong—filled every seat of the Ohio theater and even stood along the walls to see an opera brought up to date last night in time, setting and tempo.

And Billy Rose's "Carmen Jones" won the praise of all of them.

For the city, it was more than a one-night stand of a big musical. It signaled the revival of important road shows by the Mansfield Shrine club, whose membership brought the last big production here 20 years ago.

The 125 players left the city early today for Youngstown where they will play a two-day engagement.

Two-hundred persons were turned away last night for lack of space in the theater, club officers said today. About 100 mail orders were turned down at the last minute.

It was apparent that Mansfielders were show "hungry," not only from the over-capacity crowd, but from the patient way they stood in half-block long lines to be seated by Shrine club members before curtain time. Because of the big crowd, the show opened at 8:30, 15 minutes late.

Opera Story Retained.

Similarity of the modern version to the original Bizet opera, credit for which belongs to Oscar Hammerstein II, was excellently carried out in both the musical score and the story. The rich, warm voices of the all-colored cast

LEASE TO NAVY BEFORE COUNCIL

Special Meeting Called on Armory Site Request.

Whether Mansfield will lease four acres of land to the navy for a $300,000 armory will be discussed by councilmen meeting in special session tonight.

The navy tentatively has approved use of the site, located north of the National Guard armory on Ashland road. A formal "offering for lease" by council is needed before final papers may be drawn.

The armory building will cost some $100,000. It will house about $200,000 in equipment for training 200 men and 10 officers.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn in calling tonight's meeting, also placed on the docket a proposal to permit the city to go into the open market to purchase transformers for a weather station at the airport.

LEWIS ISSUES NEW DEMANDS

Biast By Coal Union Chief Hints Another Walkout.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The government flatly rejected today the request of John L. Lewis for a negotiating conference Nov. 1 to discuss higher wages and shorter hours for his half million mine workers.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— John L. Lewis tossed the threat of a new soft coal strike at the Truman administration today, hinting broadly at new wage demands and charging the government with breach of contract.

Lewis' new challenge, ending nearly six months of comparative silence, could mean a walkout of the nation's 400,000 soft-coal miners by Nov. 20—on the icy edge of winter.

Unleashing his attack with sudden fury, the United Mine Workers' union boss accused the government of contract breaches resulting in "the loss of millions of dollars due to the mine workers."

In a letter to Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug yesterday, Lewis demanded that negotiations for a completely new contract to begin by November 1, and coupled with it a threat to tear up the existing contract in 30 days.

Krug, reached at Amarillo, Tex., during an inspection trip, expressed shock at Lewis' assertions.

"The government has not breached its contract with the United Mine Workers," he declared.

"I have already suggested to Mr. Lewis arbitration on these (disputed) points . . .

"The government's contract with the United Mine Workers covers wages, hours and working conditions during the period of government operation. It does not provide for reopening of the contract to revise wages or hours."

Boy Grid Player Suffers Fracture

Patrick Kiley, 10-year-old son of Mrs. Kenneth C. Kiley, 311 North Townview circle, suffered a broken right arm while playing football yesterday afternoon.

The boy, a pupil at Woodland school, was playing in the game with Carpenter school pupils when the accident occurred. Patrick is a fifth grade pupil at Woodland. He was taken to General hospital for treatment.

Vandals Pile Heavy Blocks In Busy Street

Vandals endangered the lives of scores of motorists last night by piling cement blocks in the middle of busy West Second street.

Richard Mumford, 35 Brickman avenue, told police his automobile crashed into the blocks about 10 p. m., damaging his 1936 sedan. He escaped injury. Police said the blocks were taken from the site of a nearby apartment building now under construction.

A South Diamond street road resident reported vandals threw tomatoes and cabbages at her home, the sheriff's office said.

Charles Lantz, Bowman street road, said a rifle shot struck the kitchen door of his home yesterday afternoon. Sheriff's officers said youths had been warned against shooting in the neighborhood.

EXPOSURE FATAL

Aged County Home Resident Lay 3 Days in Thicket.

SHELBY—Miss Maude Walker, 67, resident of the Richland county home for 10 years, who last week was found in a thicket three-fourths of a mile from the institution after being missing for three days, died at 6:15 a. m. today in Shelby Memorial hospital.

Admitted to the hospital last Wednesday in a coma, Miss Walker never regained consciousness, hospital attaches said. She apparently had lain helpless for three days, Grover Dickson, superintendent of the home, said.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Bellville cemetery. Miss Walker had no known relatives.

Boys, Resentful of Punishment, Set $15,000 County Home Fire

ASHLAND — Three boys at the Ashland county children's home were held in the county jail today awaiting probate court hearing after they admitted setting fire to a large barn at the home Monday, causing damage estimated at $15,000.

The boys, aged 11, 13 and 14, were found hiding in a nearby woods four hours after the fire was discovered.

Fire Chief Paul Soles, said the boys admitted firing the barn in retaliation for being sent to bed supperless Sunday evening as punishments for misdemeanors.

He quoted the youths as saying they set fires in two places but failed in an attempt to start a third blaze in the building, which was located 75 yards from a children's dormitory.

Ashland firemen removed a horse and a number of calves before flames engulfed the entire building, but the remaining contents were completely destroyed. The structure was burned to the ground.

Inadequate water facilities prevented use of more than one fire hose, Chief Soles said. The home is located several miles south of Ashland.

Almost the entire summer's harvest was lost. Contents destroyed included 700 bushels of oats, 370 bushels of wheat, 45 tons of hay, 53 bushels of apples, a quantity of ground feed, one horse, two tractors, a half-ton truck, cultivator, hay loader, side rake and wagon and other small equipment, children's home officials reported.

The fire was reported by a nearby resident, Milo Holmes, operator of the county home farm, was in Ashland. Cleo Fast, superintendent of the home, and his wife, who is home matron, are out of the city on vacation.

The building was valued at $10,000, with $5,000 additional estimated loss on contents. Insurance partially covered the loss.

Food Supply Low In Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, P. R — (INS) — Puerto Rican officials today feared possible mob violence and long food runs as the U. S. maritime strike reduced the island to a single week's supply of foodstuffs.

Gov. Jesus T. Pinero declared the situation was so serious that he has asked the American government to use army transports to bring in emergency supplies.

ONE SHIP TO ARRIVE

The Marine Devil is scheduled to arrive today at Oakland, Calif., with 2,007 army personnel from Yokohama. No other troopships are reported to arrive at U. S. ports.

Police Stalled In Murder Case

CANTON—(INS)—Canton police authorities admitted today they had practically hit a stonewall in attempting to solve a Saturday morning double murder.

Questioning in the case was confined largely to former associates of the slain man, Joseph Norcia, 29, a sports promoter. He and Mrs. Shirley Ann Robinson, 20, divorced mother of a young boy, were killed by a single shotgun blast in front of his home.

Show-Hungry City Praises Modern Version of 'Carmen'

enhanced the typical Rose costumes and settings.

As the sensual, vibrant Carmen Jones, Audrey Vanterpool shared acting honors with Glenn Bryant and Lillian Cowan who played the respective roles of Husky Miller, the prize fighter, and Cindy Lou, the faithful sweetheart of Joe, spurned G.I. corporal who turned the light, racy comedy into tragedy in the final act. The role of Joe was convincingly portrayed by Levern Hutcherson, former member of the St. Louis Municipal Opera company.

Sings Role Well.

But most of the credit for both acting and vocalizing went to the petite, appealing Miss Cowan, who adapted a well-controlled soprano voice to the winsome Cindy Lou role.

Show stealers in their own rights were the eight children in the boys' chorus, whose enthusiasm and well-directed stage antics provided many of the laughs.

Others in the cast who gave excellent support to the principals were Theresa Merritte as Frankie, Ruth Crumpton as Myrt, Jack Carr who doubled as Sgt. Brown and Mr. Higgins and Buck and Bubbles, vaudeville headliners, who played the funny men, Rum and Dink.

An augmented orchestra of some 30 musicians was led by Tibor Kozma. Staging was done by Hassard Short, with choral arrangements by Randall Steplight.

It's Chute Factory Now.

For those who knew the opera, the sequence of the story was changed only by the characters and setting. The cigaret factory in Spain was changed to a parachute factory near an army camp in the South. The flamboyant Carmen became a gaudy factory worker and Don Jose a G. I. corporal, who "had a girl back home."

Instead of the band of smugglers, of which the original Carmen was a member, the Miss Jones was the sought-after girl of the corner cafe crowd. Consistently the band of smugglers became a mixture of prize fight promoters who engineered Carmen's trip to Chicago and the ultimate triangle of Carmen, Husky Miller, the fighter and Joe.

In the modern version, the bull ring, in which Escamillo is the victor, is changed to a prize fight arena in the Windy City, with Husky returning too late to a stabbed Carmen who kept a tryst with Joe outside.

COURT PERMITS LUMBERMAN TO USE HIS AUTO

Galion Man, Cited After Car Mishap, Calls His Work 'Essential.'

Judge H. H. Schettler recognized the lumber shortage today when he passed sentence on Warren B. Sisson, Galion lumber dealer, charged with failing to stop after an accident.

Sisson was fined $75 and costs and his license was suspended for six months. But Judge Schettler authorized Sisson to "drive in connection with his work."

Sisson's attorney declared that Sisson recently has "dug up" a half million board feet of lumber which has been brought into this area and stated that he needs the use of his car to continue to help alleviate the lumber shortage.

"One recent shipment to the area engineered by Sisson included some 20 to 25 car-loads of lumber," the attorney declared.

In defending Sisson's action, his attorney said that Sisson had "the wrong impression of the law." He said Sisson didn't know that the law required a motorist to stop if damage wasn't extensive.

Judge Schettler said, however, "that a man in Mr. Sisson's position should know the simple rule that a car should stop after an accident."

Sisson, although authorized to drive in connection with his work, must take out financial liability insurance required by state law.

Charge Dismissed.

Charges of cutting with intent to wound filed against Stanley E. Fulton, of Galion, by Charles E. Maglott, also of Galion, were dismissed.

The alleged cutting reportedly followed an accident Oct. 8. Judge Schettler dismissed the case on grounds that there was no evidence of "cutting with intent to wound."

Marie Fox, 150 West Sixth street, pleaded innocent to a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $100 and costs, $90 of which was suspended on condition of good behavior.

Fined $10 and costs each were Paul J. Freddy, of Mansfield, R. D. 4, failing to yield right-of-way, and Max Katz, Cleveland Heights, speeding.

Board to Sponsor Hot Lunch Project for Mansfield Pupils

Sponsorship of the school lunch program in Mansfield passed to the board of education last night at the request of the federal government which provides funds to help finance the project.

Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller told the board that the government has approved the program for the school year in the Senior high and two junior high school cafeterias and the lunchrooms at Hedges and Newman schools.

Supt. Miller said the lunch program has been expanded by the government to serve more schoo's throughout the country. While the school board here has been cooperating with the federal government in promoting the project during recent years, the board hasn't actually sponsored the program.

The schools are reimbursed by the government at the rate of nine cents per plate lunch served in the three cafeterias and at Hedges school and six cents per plate lunch at the Newman school.

Plate lunches covered by the contract constitute less than half of the meals served at the cafeterias, Supt. Miller explained.

Operation of the cafeterias and lunchrooms is still under the supervision of Mrs. Frances Hypes and financing of them is under control of the clerk of the board of education.

80,000 German Workers Quit Jobs For 15 Minutes.

STUTTGART—(ANS)—Nearly 80 thousand Stutigart factory workers staged a 15-minute strike today in protest against bombings believed perpetrated by German anti-denazification elements.

The American military government announced that the strike—in effect from 11 to 11:15 a. m.—was ordered by 15 trade unions in agreement with leaders of four German political parties.

The trade union officials in their strike call urged all organized workers to down their tools "as a protest against the recent bomb plots and to show that the workers disassociate themselves from such action."

TRY TO STEAL OFFICER'S CAR

2 Soldiers Confess Attempt at Theft, Police Report.

Two Wright field soldiers who made the mistake of attempting to steal a Mansfield police officer's car were to be turned over to military authorities today.

John B. Wise, 20, and Billy A. Klotz, 18, have signed statements confessing to the attempted theft of a car owned by Patrolman Marion L. Hardesty, 373½ West Third street, police said.

In his confession, Klotz, whose home is in Sandusky, said the two were hitch-hiking to Wise's home in Alliance. When they got to Mansfield, he said, they "decided to look for a car."

Both said that they had no previous police record. They are stationed at Wright field, Dayton, with the air forces.

The pair said they crossed the ignition wires on Hardesty's car and when it failed to start they pushed it along Third street some distance. The theft attempt occurred early Saturday morning.

A secretary in the police department, who lives across the street from Hardesty, spotted the attempted theft and notified police.

On recommendation of County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz the two are to be released to Wright field authorities instead of being held here on charges of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Purdy Speaks At Mt. Vernon

Wesley W. Purdy, Democratic candidate for congressman in Ohio's 17th district, yesterday urged members of the Kiwanis club of Mt. Vernon to "take an interest in politics, whether Democrat or Republican."

Speaking on the theme of "Democracy," Purdy said:

"Democracy consists of 'people at home.' We have too much government by remote control. As our economic and industrial system gets more complex we will have more and more confusion from a government far away."

Purdy cited the fact that in 1776 "our people wrote the Declaration of Independence as a protest against the swarms of officials who controlled their lives from the remote island of England."

The Democratic candidate for congressman is scheduled to speak again tonight at 8 p m. in the Eagles hall at Loudonville. He said it would be a "political speech," with reference made to "my own policy as a candidate and the record of my opponent." He said he would discuss the record of his opponent, J. Harry McGregor, Republican incumbent, "in regard to the issue of price control."

FAMILY MESSAGE NO. 4

Your small fry ...and money

A child's first experiences with money are important for the formation of good financial habits in later life. Here are some useful suggestions from Mrs. Evelyn Duvall, Executive Secretary of the National Conference on Family Relations.

1 When should the child get his first spending money?

"Children and situations vary so much! In general we can begin an allowance soon after a child understands money as a means of buying things he wants.

"When you give a child an allowance it should be really his to do with as he wishes. Only by experiences, some of them sad, can he learn some things.

"Sometimes unusual situations may justify some 'extras,' but do not make a habit of 'bailing him out' when he is 'broke'.

"If the allowance does not seem to work out satisfactorily, let the family talk it over. Smaller amounts given at more frequent intervals may help."

2 How much should his first allowance be?

"How much can the family afford? How much do his playmates get? Rich or poor, the amount should be enough to meet his real needs, but not enough to enable a child to 'buy' his way to 'importance' among his friends.

"At first his allowance will be expected to cover only small personal items, such as candy and ice cream. As he becomes experienced in handling money the amount may be increased to cover additional items such as school supplies; and still later, clothing and similar expenses.

"When the allowance has been increased to cover necessities, parents have a right to check up and see that the necessities are not neglected."

3 Should a child be paid for work at home?

"As soon as he is able, each child should have some home responsibility which he performs because he is a member of the family, and for which he is not paid.

"If there are other jobs which the family would pay to have done, such as raking leaves, washing windows, or the car, there is no reason why children who want to earn extra money should not be allowed this little 'contract.'

"In some instances money problems are really problems of personality adjustment. The child who is unusually extravagant, may feel insecure or rejected.

"Such problems are solved only by loving, and by sympathetic, intelligent guidance."

Watch for Family Message No. 5 about two weeks from now.

A simple, easy way to manage the family money

Regardless of the size of income, any family can have more happiness and fewer family worries by carefully planning the use of the family money.

First: provide in advance for payments coming due, such as rent, taxes, mortgage charges, life insurance and other insurance. The easiest way is to bank the small amounts each payday that will add up to the larger amounts when due.

Second: deposit something extra in the savings account until you have built up a fund for emergencies.

Then you know just what you have to spend on the everyday family needs such as food and clothing, and for recreation—and what you can afford to set aside for such family plans as a new home, education, travel.

Because the life insurance companies and their agents have long helped people to plan for family security and happiness, they are conducting this program of information as a public service to the 71,000,000 owners of life insurance and to every American family.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1946

No matter how fast you're driving, there's always someone in more of a hurry.

Word comes that intended revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has been postponed because of lack of a cabin.

Yes, the meat dealers say, their customers are asking the price, and are cutting down their purchases accordingly—the same being true with cheese, it appears.

Strike Disrupts Air Transportation

NOW it is aerial transportation that has been hit by a pilots' strike, and who's to say whether the aggrieved pilots should have more money, or less, as this is a field of endeavor which is still in an experimental stage, insofar as revenues and potential revenues from operation are concerned—and the high price of flying, even at present rates, is quite likely to be a deterrent to widespread adoption of this mode of transportation.

Not enough time has yet been given for development of arbitration procedure by airway employers and employes such as has made it possible to avoid nationwide tie-up of railway transportation.

Fortunately transportation by air has not yet reached a point at which any considerable percentage of the population is seriously discommoded by temporary suspension of service—as has been the case in many other organized work stoppages, but this may be taken as another example of "the trend of the times" which should not be treated lightly even by those who would not be inconvenienced in the slightest by suspension of commercial air line service.

Much more interest-compelling to many people is the announced determination of CIO-United Auto Workers to seek "substantial wage adjustments" to meet the increasing costs of living—and unless the promised "leveling off" of commodity prices comes along sooner than now seems probable, the whole matter of wage demands, rejections, strikes and settlements may have to be gone through again . . . just when it appeared that actual steps were being taken toward national recovery from the effects of war.

The Pittsburgh power strike has ended, after 27 days during which several million people in the affected area were greatly discommoded, and an estimated loss of $300,000,000 in business and wages incurred.

A comment by David L. Lawrence, mayor of Pittsburgh, is illuminating: "It is a tragic fact that this costly industrial warfare, which inflicted so much harm on the entire community, was needless from the start. The arbitration accepted is basically the same proposal available before the strike was called. We are learning the hard way."

As other strikes are contemplated, but not yet called, it would seem an evidence of good judgment to consider all the factors—including regard for the general welfare—before resorting to the strike weapon as a means of attempting to enforce demands that it may be impossible to meet.

Efforts To Withhold News

EFFORTS of a newspaper to make an accurate report of news happenings in its community are sometimes made difficult by persons who are in position to give full information but who refuse to do so in a frank way.

Some happenings are so obviously "news" that must be printed that the advantage of a factual report by some informed person would seem to be recognized as proper procedure, rather than that parties concerned should attempt to withhold facts.

This sometimes occurs in the form of an attempt to have a phony name used in connection with an arrest, sometimes in an effort at suppression of a divorce action which is a matter of public record, and sometimes after a traffic accident—even when injuries result.

As a suggestion, best procedure is to give the newspaper reporter the known facts about a "news story" and thus make it unnecessary to get the story in a roundabout way—possibly less accurate than if the information could be secured at firsthand.

Why So Many Vice Presidents?

"I NEVER had any trouble with players, nor with the man that owned the club. My trouble has always been that I couldn't get along with vice-presidents." Thus Roger Hornsby, one of the greatest batters of all time and a manager who won a world's championship, explained why he kept moving from club to club.

Not only baseball but other businesses have cases of too much vice-president, aides to the head who are appointed for reasons other than usefulness to the business. This is said to have been one cause of the industrial collapse of 1929.

As viewed by the Detroit News, "landing of the record-breaking plane in Ohio's capital city repays the visit of 1492—someone discovers Columbus."

There may still be "mutinies" at sea, but now they are called "strikes."

Moley Believes 'Boom and Bust' Prediction Is Wishful Thinking

By RAYMOND MOLEY

ONE of our most pertinent questions, as we pass out from price control, is the future course of labor. Will a wave of strikes mark a winter which promises high prices and somewhat recessive business?

High prices traditionally set off demands for higher wages. No doubt, this possibility is what caused Mr. Truman and his decontrol board to hold controls even after failure was apparent.

There are strong reasons, why the big unions may hesitate to set off a wave of strikes. One of these reasons is the depleted financial strength of unions after the strikes of last winter.

Moreover, the more difficult competitive position of many employers will make for much sharper resistance than was the case a year ago. Markets are not as empty as they were then. Customers are less willing to pay price increases now that most of their more dire needs have been satisfied.

Labor was directly encouraged by government, just a year ago, to strike for a higher share of the returns of industry. The administration did some indiscreet talking and later was compelled to eat a large proportion of its words.

Government officials will be much more cautious about such statements, especially after this election is over. The weight of the Truman administration will be likely to be thrown against encouraging strikes.

The period into which we are now sliding is one in which the price picture is not clear, and there are signs that the increases may not be as excessive as has been anticipated.

Rent control will continue, with some adjustments. Employment will stay high, with some decrease at the turn of the year.

Grain prices, as soon as the present car shortage ends, are quite likely to decline under the law of supply and demand. Canada has been selling wheat to England at a price far below current levels here. Crops in Europe, Japan and probably India are better than were anticipated.

The mysterious drop in the price of raw cotton is sure to have an important effect on textile prices in the next six months.

In construction, there may be high prices and great confusion for years to come.

Thus, as price controls recede from the stage, we are not likely to witness the results predicted by the president and the OPA economists. The predictions by radical publications of boom and bust are the result of wishful thinking.

It is clear now that the left wing of the Democratic party would welcome anything to discredit the Truman administration and to set the stage for the nomination of a more radical candidate than Truman.

But whatever we may think of their political anticipations, their economic forecasts of boom and bust are not likely to come. We are more likely to have just spotty economic weather in the year ahead.

Listen World!

Elsie Decides To Put It Bluntly.

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I AM about to quote a dilly. George Dixon wrote it first. I shall envy him as long as I live.

Even if he is copyrighted, he is working for the same boss. So if you have read this before, do it again. It's what this country needs, and how. And personally I consider it a masterpiece. If it doesn't make history, it oughta.

"It seems a terrible thing to say but what this country needs is a good depression.

"Paradoxically it's the only way to restore real prosperity. America's got to get a terrific jolt so it will be glad to go back to work again.

"So people will be able to acquire goods and live once again under conditions of real prosperity, we've got to go through another economic Gethsemane. It's apparently the only way we can drain off this worthless hot money—worthless in that it has little purchasing power—and bring the nation back to its senses.

"A few breadlines will make more people realize that all these AFL-CIO jurisdictional disputes and inter-union battles that can tie up a nation's shipping are not unalloyed fun.

"Moreover when we hit into the next depression—and economists declare it's got to come sure as Sunday—there must be no made work. There's too much in the way of necessary, even imperative work, waiting to be done.

"There shouldn't be a dime's worth of relief for anyone who can get a legitimate job doing anything. Before men can obtain relief, the U. S. employment service must certify it has been unable to place him anywhere in private industry.

"America seems to have gone nuts. Labor appears to have gone stark, raving crazy in an effort to destroy itself."

To which my enthusiastic answer is—"Georgie, I could cry with joy. Someone has at last dared to speak the truth and give the status quo a kick in the brisket."

Personally I am so sick of all this fuss and fidgeting about who will do what, when the whole continent is craving a little manual labor, thet I could throw a purple fit. We are getting so choosey about jobs that we will soon be doling out perspiration in salt cellars.

And the women are just as bad as the men. They have to have their special beauty treatments even if the baby starves.

It's a good thing that our founding fathers are firmly settled in their graves. Otherwise they would rise and slap our ears back. This country was made by hard work and I have yet to see the time when a lot of hard work wasn't needed.

Who do we think we are, anyway—turning up our noses at good, decent labor? This is no longer a time of slave drivers. No one is wielding a blacksnake over any bared spine. Anyone who really wants to work can get a good job which will feed himself and his family. And, as a taxpayer, I am plumb sick of these whiners who go around complaining that they can't find work when they're stumbling over it at every step.

I can remember when round steak cost 12c a pound and you carried it home yourself and were darn glad to get it. We could return to that time within 24 hours if we'd roll up our sleeves, kick out our racketeers and decide to be Regular Folks.

You 'n' me, Georgie, let's get together. Perhaps we can start something. Maybe this is still America.

Report Says That John L. Lewis Was Made Tool of Nazi Plotters

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson today continues his revelation of important excerpts from the suppressed Rogge report on Nazi activities in the United States early in the war.)

* * *

WASHINGTON — Hermann Goering was depressed and sullen shortly before he cheated the Allied gallows. But when interviewed some time earlier by John Rogge and justice department officials on his attempts to sway American public opinion, he was frank and full of braggadocio.

Gladly would he have spent $150,000,000 to defeat Roosevelt in 1940, Goering said. During the same interview he boasted that he once considered having a sign hung in his office reading:

"No business transacted here unless the amount involved is more than $10,000,000."

The only thing Goering quibbled about when he told justice department agents of Nazi attempts to defeat Roosevelt through John L. Lewis, was that he would not have paid as little as $3,000,000 to do the job

It was Lewis's close friend, W. R. Davis, then engaged in selling Mexican oil to the German navy, who went to Berlin after the war started in 1939 and discussed the whole strategy with Goering.

"Davis talked to me about John L. Lewis and that one ought to reach an agreement with him," Goering told justice department agents.. "He was the one who was seeing me about oil business in Mexico. He told me that Lewis was not tied up with either of the two major parties but was a free lance as far as political decisions were concerned and was one of the few people who understood Germany's position. He presented himself as a very good friend of John L. Lewis. He told me that Lewis was very influential; that he was backed by the trade unions; and that he was very important for a positive attitude towards Germany. Davis told me that by the use of his influence on Lewis, he could influence the elections in such a manner so that the reelection of Roosevelt which, in his opinion, would mean war, would be prevented."

The Rogge report then continues:

"We asked Goering whether in connection with using Lewis to try to defeat Roosevelt in 1940, any sum of money from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 was mentioned. (We had heard that a representative of the Italian government by the name of Luigi Podesta had taken from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 in United States currency to the German consulate general in New York.)

"'I am certain,' Goering replied, 'that I did not talk to Davis about influencing the American presidential election on a basis as ridiculous as that of $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. If a serious representative had approached me and told me that he could influence the presidential election so that they elected a president who was favorably inclined towards Germany, for such a purpose I would have spent $100,000,000 to $150,000,000'."

Davis Aimed High.

Lewis was quite aware of the Davis conversations with Goering, according to the Rogge report, Davis even giving him a telephone report from Berlin.

Altogether Goering had three different talks with Davis.

"Goering thought well of the scheme of having Davis work with Lewis and split up the labor unions in order to present the reelection of President Roosevelt," says the Rogge report.

"During the course of the conversations, Davis stated that he was willing to put millions of his own money into the scheme to have Lewis help him defeat President Roosevelt, but added that he would need additional financial support from the Nazis.

He further stated that in the event he was successful in having President Roosevelt defeated, he wanted to become secretary of state.

"At the third session Goering stated that he had taken their discussions up with Hitler and gave Davis an advance copy of the speech which Hitler made on October 6, 1939. In that speech, as Hertslet himself commented, 'Hitler made no real concessions whatever toward peace'." (It was to negotiate an appeasement peace that John L. Lewis purported to be interested in the Davis mission.)

"During the course of these conferences, Davis, according to Hertslet, telephoned from Berlin to Lewis in the United States and reported to him."

Note — Joachim Hertslet, referred to above, was a director of the German Economic Ministry, who collaborated closely with Davis in buying oil and later came to the United States to confer with both Davis and Lewis.

Lewis Helps Nazi Oil.

The United Mine Workers boss, incidentally, played a role in helping his friend Davis get hold of Mexican oil for the Nazi navy. Describing this, the Rogge report says:

"On March 18, 1938," Mexico expropriated the oil properties of certain American, British and Dutch companies. A month later, on April 18 between 5 and 6 p. m., John L. Lewis telephoned Alejandro Carille at Mexico City (a leader of the Mexican labor movement).

"Lewis told Carille that Davis had left New York on the 3 p. m. plane en route to Mexico City, assured Carille that Davis was 'absolutely all right,' and told Carille to tell President Cardenas that Germany and Italy were the only countries with which it would be safe for Mexico to deal. Lewis instructed Carille to see President Cardenas that night and tell him these things without fail."

Various other visits between Lewis and the Mexicans are described in the Rogge report. Mexican labor leader Toledano visited Lewis in Washington later that year, following which Lewis paid a return visit to Mexico City.

"With the help and support of Lewis," the Rogge report continues, "Davis did secure control of expropriatel Mexican oil." Thus the oil seized from American and British companies was sold to the German navy through Davis and his friend John L. Lewis.

Miners' Votes Promised.

Later the big mine boss actually sat down with Hertslet of the German economic ministry and promised to swing the coal miners away from Roosevelt. Describing these conversations, the Rogge report says:

"Towards the end of March 1940, according to Hertslet's recollection, he, Davis, and Lewis had an evening conference at Davis's home in Scarsdale, N. Y. . . . They discussed the conference which Davis had had with Goering. Davis told Lewis that he had said to Goering that Lewis could count on the support of 10,000,000 workers and could use this support against Roosevelt. Lewis agreed. They discussed the coming elections, and Lewis said that he would come out against the reelection of Roosevelt.

"Thereafter, Hertslet took up the subject matter of this evening meeting with the German embassy in Washington."

Thus, John L. Lewis pledged the votes of his miners against Roosevelt six months before the miners themselves knew anything about it. So it was a complete surprise to them when he carried out his pledge and came out for Willkie in October.

What his miners did not know, however, was that the $55,000 for Lewis's coast-to-coast broadcast was paid by W. R. Davis, the man who had plotted this very thing in Berlin with Herman Goering one year before.

Chicago's Boss Kelly Is "On the Spot."

CHICAGO, Ill.—The great meat mystery has held the political stage here in Chicago almost exclusively. It has been exploited by the Republicans in every conceivable way.

If it had not been for the meat industry, the campaign in Illinois would be duller and more listless than it is. And even with that thriller injected, it's pretty dull.

Illinois has no senatorial contest this year. Almost the only race that holds any interest is that for congressman-at-large.

Here the voters have a genuine choice, one that has drama and keen significance for the country as a whole. The incumbent congressman-at-large is Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, a liberal Democrat, who first ran for office while her professor husband was fighting with the Marine corps in the Pacific.

Mrs. Douglas, intelligent and well-informed, is alert to the importance of the role America must play if we are to have peace and a stable world.

Her Republican opponent is William G. Stratton, an isolationist and nationalist, who during a previous service in congress helped the America First crowd to foster the dangerous illusion that this country had nothing to fear from abroad. The shattering of that myth—if we just mind our own business, they won't bother us—at Pearl Harbor was one of the greatest shocks this nation has ever had.

Stratton has frequently appeared at meetings run by the nationalist fringe at which the speeches sound like a faulty broadcast from Berlin in the old Nazi days. His election would signal the return of the isolationist mentality of the late '30s.

How this race will come out is anyone's guess at the moment. Mrs. Douglas has the support of such earnest organizations as the Independent Voters of Illinois. But her backers are not too optimistic.

A lot depends on how large a Democratic vote Mayor Edward J. Kelly can deliver in Chicago. Repeatedly in the Roosevelt era, Kelly rolled up massive majorities sufficient to blanket any total coming from the rural counties down state.

But now he is an aging war horse. Just how old he is, no one is quite certain, as the mayor is discreet on this score. Those who should know, put his age at 73 or 74.

In any event, years of prosperity and success, years of dignity and respectability, have dulled his lust for battle. His old partner, Pat Nash, is no more, and the Kelly-Nash machine is not the 12-cylinder job it once was.

The mayor must deliver the vote this time to refute the insinuations of his enemies and detractors.

Chicago, of course, had an immediate concern over the meat crisis. Some 40,000 packing house employes were thrown out of work when long lines of cattle cars stopped flowing to market.

About the overwhelming problem of our complex age few people here seem to be thinking. On the Illinois horizon is the transcendent vision of a porterhouse steak.

Farmer's Diary: "Late Harvest."

IN A FIELD that skirted a woodland to the north were shocks of corn—not closely set, in long straight rows, but short and sparse, with plenty of distance between them. Glacial boulders lay all about, reflecting brightly in the morning sun. Shimmering heat waves rose from the drab chocolate soil, and foxtail, with dark ripened seeds, lay in every row.

By the border of the woods an old worm fence, half rotted down, still marked the line of ownership between two families. As with an old warped building or a wall, time has a way of tearing things apart and scattering the pieces. And so it seemed that aged fence, for a half century or more, had kept the woods from moving out into the field.

Upon the uneven soil, lay scores of pumpkins, green and golden. The parent vines were killed last week by heavy frost and now the fruits dot the rugged landscape between the shocks. A month ago the standing corn concealed them.

Driving near the middle of this upland field an old gray-bearded man and his slender, aged wife stopped their weathered wagon where a cluster of yellow pumpkins grew. The round gray mare turned her head and watched, while the old man stepped, with some difficulty to the rim of the wheel to the hub, then stiffly to the ground.

With a jerk, he tore the vine from the woody stem and using each as a handle he brought two pumpkins at a time to his wife, who carefully laid them down in the straw-covered wagon bed. They worked until the spring wagon was heaped above the sides. Then she drew the spring seat back to its place and after some maneuvering both were again seated ready to drive away. Then came a moment's pause . . . I saw him speak to her.

Both turned and looked across the hills—a long, far view of gayly colored oaks, maples, ash, poplar and flaming sassafras. She pointed to the blueness of the autumn sky and peered under her thin hand in the direction of a distant farmhouse. The south wind blew the corner of her threadbare cape across one shoulder and set the farther point of the old man's gray beard northward like a weather vane. Then they laughed together, both wrinkled faces beaming with strange delight, and he drew up the lines, spoke to the old mare, and the wagon rattled off toward the lane.

Romance, I thought, is beautiful at any season.

He was one of perhaps 200 persons in the auditorium On the wall, to the right of the pulpit, hung a service flag with approximately that many blue stars honoring youths of the church who served their country; seven gold stars in memory of church members who gave their lives for their country.

The newcomer was struck by the absence of young faces. He gained the impression that the vast majority of the worshippers on this Sunday morning were parents whose children must have grown and left Few appeared of an age to have children in Mansfield schools today.

As he listened to the pastor discuss the lack of attendance at the services, his thoughts turned to the outbreak of pre-Halloween vandalism that Chief of Police Meade K. Bates says may have set a record for this early in the Halloween season.

The pastor didn't link vandalism with the small attendance. Rather he dwelt at some length on the idea that a church with a membership of 1 800 in Mansfield should have for a Sunday morning service only enough persons in the auditorium to fill half of the pews.

It so happens that in the denomination in which this pastor serves, a million new members were added in the United States last year, nearly 500 new churches were founded or reopened. If the Mansfield church had reached its quota of those new members last year, it would have added 500 on its rolls.

"Ye Made It," the pastor said, as he appealed to the congregation to make the Mansfield church "alive," for, so he said, the church as a whole "is not dead" when it could add 1,000,000 members throughout the nation.

"Jesus wants us to be a lively church," he said. "How can you build a lively church without people?"

Then he commented: "Youngsters seem to have to meet these days anywhere but in the church. There's something wrong."

And the pastor was right. Something is wrong, tragically wrong when a great church lacks the young people to make it "alive," the youth to give it life, to make it grow and live in the years to come.

And the newcomer, linking the pastor's words with the all too-prevalent vandalism, wondered if maybe that church might not have been on Sunday a visual illustration of why Mansfield civic leaders have cause to be alarmed at the amount of vandalism current this pre-Halloween season.

He wondered if the parents of those youngsters (and one naturally assumes that much of the vandalism is due to youngsters) hadn't so grown away from the chuch that they themselves were responsible for the vandalism (budding crime, if you please). He wondered if the older members of the congregations hadn't failed by neglecting to make their church such a "living church" as would bring into it the young boys and the young girls who must carry on when the few hundred present-day faithful no longer are able to keep that church going.

It isn't the pastor, although he can do much; rather, it would appear that the job is one for the parents and the grandparents so to develop the programs of their church that Mansfield youth will receive lessons in right living—community living—that they, of their own accord, will put an end to vandalism and the many other undesirable elements that serve to undermine an entire community's life.

C. OF C. PICKS 10 DELEGATES TO STATE MEET

Problem of Raising Funds For Cities to Be Discussed at Conference Nov. 7.

Methods of reducing state taxes and increasing the income of municipalities will be discussed at a forum to be held in conjunction with the 53rd annual meeting of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce Nov. 7 and 8, C. of C. officials said today.

Mansfield C. of C. officials announced delegates and alternates who are scheduled to attend the state meeting in Columbus.

Delegates include Reese Mills, Mansfield C. of C. president; J. H. Ashbaugh, C. L. Van Derau, Louis Bromfield, R. M. Calene, Joy A. Herbert, John Catlett, John Conard, Paul M. Eliot and Dale G. Roth.

Alternate delegates from Mansfield will be Dean Dickerson, Harry Dailey, Robert Hayes, William Miller, Ed Schmid, A. G. Earnshaw, H. G. Brunner, C. J. Solomon, Robert Remy and O. C. McCormick.

Tax authorities will be commentators at the forum, entitled "State Surpluses vs. Local Government Deficits."

The forum is being held to determine viewpoints of government and business as to prospective revisions in the tax laws.

The Ohio C. of C. maintains that revenue for the state from existing taxes is in excess of its needs.

It also holds that without new taxes means should be devised to reduce the state government's swollen income and air revenue-hunting municipalities. The state C. of C. is of the further opinion that state tax reduction may be possible, chamber officials said.

Cross, who is in Chicago to attend the annual meeting to plan the next drive in six midwest states, said the money was distributed after local chapter funds in stricken communities were exhausted.

Firm's Cars Race Stork 30 To 35 Times Daily (and Win)

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Fourteen brave men are matching their speed with the stork in Brooklyn every day. So far they haven't lost a race.

During the past year the Morro limousine service has specialized in rushing expectant mothers to the hospital—and no baby has been born in an automobile yet.

"Almost in the lobby of a hospital, yes," said Hausman, who is 35 and has two daughters himself, "but never in the cars. We've delivered at least 4,000 women to the maternity wards without a bobble. We can still say our slogan: 'we beat the stork.'"

The maternity taxi system was started by Owner Daniel Lissner, and he charges two dollars per ride—win, lose or draw.

"We average from 30 to 35 mothers a day," Hausman said. "Our telephone is always ringing. People are always yelling: 'please, hurry up.'"

On man called up and demanded a limousine on the fly.

"What hospital do you want to go to?" Hausman asked.

The father gulped. "I can't remember," he said. "But send your driver, and send him fast. I'll know by the time he gets here."

"Does he know?" Hausman shook his head of thinning hair. "He does not. My driver drove around the park for 10 minutes with the guy and his wife in the back. Finally the man remembered. It was a close call, but everything turned out all right."

Fathers are always calling, "come right over." Then, before Hausman can stop them, they hang up without giving an address.

"But they generally remember," he said. "In a few minutes, they call back."

Some mothers register for the service almost as soon as they know they're pregnant.

"It doesn't matter to us," Hausman said. "In a business like this, you can't have a set schedule. Nobody has a time-clock on that stork."

Sometimes his clients wait too long.

"One man called me up to order a limousine," Hausman said, "and before I could take his name, he yelled: 'Lord, it's too late. The baby is here.'"

And did he count that against the record of the Morro maternity service?

"I did not," Hausman said. "After all, we hadn't turned a wheel."

Episcopal 100 Year Celebration Closes With Parish Dinner

MY DREAM is for a parish house which will serve the community as a center for civic organizations and service units," stated Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard, pastor of the Grace Episcopal church, last night as he addressed over 150 members of the church and guests at the parish dinner. The dinner, in the undercroft, climaxed the series of events celebrating the centenial of the church.

The parish house as envisioned by Rev. Peard would include not only separate rooms for Sunday school classes of the church but an auditorium and space for basketball, and badminton, a kitchen and kitchen equipment which could be used by various groups and contribute to the good and growth of the community.

In his outline of plans for the more immediate future he stated the need of a Men's club to work with the church school and asked for the support of the congregation in the operation of the church and it's functions.

As a main feature of the program was the burning of the church mortgage by Rev. Peard, George Fort, treasurer and J. C. Gorman, senior warden.

Three members of the original choir, Charles Old, M. T. Brinkerhoff and Charles Schreidt, were introduced.

Guests were Rev. R. A. Stacy, pastor of the Mt. Zion Lutheran church, and Rev. Claire T Crenshaw of the Episcoal chuch of Marion and their wives. They were introduced by Rev. Peard and Rev. Stacy spoke briefly.

Mrs. Harry Cave headd the decoration committee whih included Mrs. Stanley Richardson, Mrs. Peard, Mrs. W. Ross Arbuckle. Mrs R J Welch and Mrs. J. C. Gorman. The centerpieces of the table were arrangements of fall leaves, dried weeds and autumn fruits and vegetables. Wooden baskts of colored leaves and bittersweet were placed in the windows

In charge of the dinner was a committee of women from the guilds and church council headed by Mrs. Robert W. Jones Committee members were Mrs L. H. LeBarre, Mrs. Leo D. Wright, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. F. David Boals, Mrs. Arbuckle, Mrs. H. R. Rhonehouse, Mrs. William R Williams, Mrs. Lovis Frere and Mrs. R. J. Harris.

OES Celebrates 53rd Year With Anniversary Banquet at Temple

Three hundred members and visitors were present last evening in the ballroom of the Masonic temple for the banquet which was served in observance of the 53rd anniversary of Ruth chapter, No. 17, Order of Eastern Star.

Mrs. Floyd Adams was in charge of the dinner with Mrs. Charles Kerr, worthy matron, presiding at the meeting following the dinner.

A service was held honoring the Past Matron's and Past Patron's, and a class of candidates was initiated.

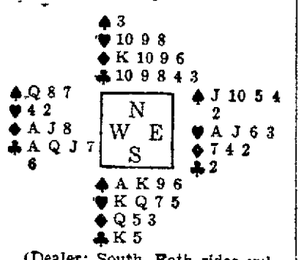
The next regular meeting, Nov. 2, will be election of officers.

The following members left this morning to attend the three day session of the Grand chapter OES of Ohio which will convene in Cleveland; Mrs. Charles Kerr, Mrs. Floyd Adams, Mrs. Miriam Hoffman, Mrs. John Roman, Mrs. Forest Domer, Mrs. Lester Rain, Mrs. A. Milton Dye, Mrs. Austa McAninch, Mrs. Richard Corbin, Mrs. Roy Vaughn, Mrs . Lowell Christman, Mrs. C. Wilson Barnes, Mrs. Virgil Hartman, Mrs. J. H. Mayberry, Mrs. Milo Miller, Miss Thelma Hursh, Miss Ada Steward and Miss Pearl Wierman.

The headquarters will be at the Hotel Cleveland and the sessions will be held in the public auditorium.

Barclay On Bridge

After the opening suit bid has been passed by the next two players, how much do you need to reopen the bidding with a bid or double? Some players will jokingly say "thirteen cards," because third hand's pass has shown that your partner has some strength. But they don't quite mean that. With an average situation, it is well to have about an average hand in that spot if you act. Treating that as par, you can vary it according to whether your length is mainly in majors or minors, whether you have good intermediates or great suit lengths, and whether a fit or misfit seems likely.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	?

Let's forget the tables where West overcalled South's spade opener, the defense as a consequence getting into one contract or another which was beaten, and consider only those where West and North passed as shown above.

At two tables, East passed the 1-Spade, and South struggled around trying to make his contract, but failed by a trick. At the others, East either doubled or bid 2-Hearts. The double invariably was followed by a 2-Clubs response, then a 2-Hearts bid by East, and after that various denouements, including 3-Clubs and 2 or 3-No Trumps, all of which got set. The 2-Hearts was followed by 3-Clubs and then a series of similar actions which got the side beaten

In brief, it proved better for East to pass than to take positive action. Why? Notice, first, that so many spades in East's hand and so few clubs made it quite likely that the pair would have a misfit, just as it did Second, note how far below an average hand East was when one each of the four top-sized honors would make an average hand. Furthermore, East did not have compensating long suits or solid intermediates to help him In addition, his spades indicated trouble for South From every standpoint, a pass was the best competitive move available to him.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, October 23.

SURPRISING or dramatic developments, quite unpredictable and unforseen, may be the means of turning the key in the door of destiny, with most pleasant and profitable gusto, especially if such circumstance be astutely analyzed for real values and enduring prospects rather than a mere "flash in the pan" spectacle.

There are many angles to be considered, since business ventures or financial deals might have dubious reactions on the private life and its fair repute. Keep realistic, sane.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a sudden on-rush of unusual developments of a breath-taking and dramatic character, which may involve a radical change in the affairs—financial, business, domestic and emotional. While the prospect seems encouraging for steady and easy progress toward a cherished goal, perhaps in the fulfilment of the "heart's desire" yet a rush of ill-considered grasp of current lucrative and happy openings, might swerve to undesirable denouement, in which intimate affiliations are involved. Shun erratic, emotional decisions and analyse for sound values

A child born on this day has splendid abilities, with ingenuity, skill and high ambitions.

Sisters Honored At Wilson Home

Two sisters and brides-to-be were honored recently at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Robert Wilson with Miss Maxine Weaver as associate hostess.

Guests of honor were the Misses Dorothy and Mary Naomi Pittenger.

Prizes for the games played during the evening were awarded to Miss Virginia Priess, Miss Mary Gramly, and Mrs. C. L. Pittenger, mother of the guests of honor.

Miss Dorothy Pittenger will marry Dale Mawhorr Oct. 26 in the Oakland Lutheran church while Miss Mary Pittenger will become the bride of Russell Whited Nov. 2 at the same church. Open church will be observed for both weddings.

Happy Days for Sluggish Folks

PILES
ARE NEVER "MILD"
DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.
